Andover has a new events board under construction in Elm Square, thanks to an Eagle Scout project undertaken by David Nichols, 15, of Troop 77, West Parish Church. Dave, digging in at right, came up with the idea for the Eagle project and was assisted by other troop members in the 120 hours of planning, preparation and placement of the new bulletin board. Assisting here are, from left, Rajiv Sheel, Dave Carnes and Chris Corwinshield.

Contractor Will Haul Trash To No. Andover Plant

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Andover will soon have a new contract for curb-side rubbish collections, and a new pickup schedule as well, as the town begins taking its refuse to the new solid waste disposal plant in North Andover.

Public Works Director Robert McQuade last week told the TOWNSMAN that Andover's trash is already being trucked to the new resource recovery facility during a three-month "shake-down" period.

The plant is scheduled to officially begin operations in September, McQuade said, but appears to be running ahead of schedule and may open as early as July. The plant is already operating up to capacity, he noted.

The town will be charged $29 for each ton of solid waste that it brings to the plant, the director said; he estimates that Andover will send 10,500 tons of trash to North Andover each year. (The town's fiscal 1986 budget includes $660,900 for solid waste disposal.)

McQuade said bids were opened Tuesday, April 16, for a contractor to pick up rubbish all over town and truck it to the new plant. (As a temporary measure, the town has been using a month-by-month contract to bring rubbish to a Peabody landfill.)

The contract was awarded to Stanley Roketenetz, d/b/a/ Waste Management of Boston North. The firm is the present Andover contractor. A five-year contract is expected to be signed shortly. First year cost is $349,450 compared to the current annual cost of $384,000 to the Peabody landfill.

The contractor will draw up a new route for weekly collections, the director said, and will most likely increase the pickup schedule from four to five days to create shorter routes each day.

At that time the paper recycling schedule will also be changed to correspond with the new trash schedule.

While the new solid waste plant is well on its way to an official opening, another public works project important to And-

Haverhill Street Improvements Scheduled

Look for work on Haverhill Street, perhaps the most complained-about road in town, to begin soon, according to Public Works Director Robert McQuade.

The director reports that the repaving of Haverhill Street from Enmore Street to Doctor's Park will begin "by next month at the latest." DPW crews will rip up the pavement from the roadway, use that material to create a new sub-base, and lay new pavement.

McQuade expects the project to take about three weeks; detour routes will be set up at least part of that time.

Haverhill Street has been in rough shape since last fall, when new water mains were installed beneath the road. The DPW director explains that it was necessary to let the roadway settle for a while before repaving.

Rabies Clinic Saturday At Sanborn

The Town of Andover's annual rabies clinic, sponsored by the Andover Board of Health and the Andover Animal Hospital, will be held at Sanborn School, Lovejoy Road, from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday, April 27, and Saturday, May 4.

Massachusetts law requires that vaccine be given to puppies and kittens at three to six months of age and then repeated after one year. The vaccine given to dogs and cats after one year of age is good for three years.

Cats should be transported in a cage, box or pillow case, while dogs should have a choke collar and a sturdy leash.

The price for each animal is $4.

Selectmen Allow House Move

Walter Belisle got permission on Monday to move a house from 159 River Road to a vacant lot, one mile away, east of 243 Chandler Road.

The Board of Selectmen unanimously approved the moving request after Belisle satisfied them that he had notified townspeople along the mile-long route.

Assessment Methods To Be Discussed

The town's method of assessing property values will be on the agenda of the Monday, May 13, Board of Selectmen meeting, at the request of Andover residents Joan Prum, 1 Hidden Road, and Debby Moggio, 3 Hidden Road.

The two women have been leading the call to examine the assessment procedures, claiming that there are wide discrepancies in assessments throughout the town.

Selectmen's Session To Be Televised

The Board of Selectmen's next meeting, on Monday, May 6, will be broadcast live on Andover's cable television station Channel 11.

Board meetings have been taped and shown later in the week but the next showing will be the first live presentation. The meeting, and the show, will begin at 7:30 p.m.

On Monday the Selectmen joked about coordinating their outfits for their first live performance.

Yard Sale

A yard sale is scheduled at Ballard Vale United Church, June 1. Spaces are available for rent as well as tables through Betsy Cornell, Ballard Vale United Church, 23 Clrk Road, Andover, who may be reached by telephone at her 20 Hall Ave. home after 6:30 p.m.

Medical Student A Winner In Research Competition

Doug Mesler will be the first physician in his family.

"They are all pretty excited about it, I guess, because it is such an idealistic thing," he said.

But, that's not the only reason his family has to be excited. Mesler, a second-year student at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill School of Medicine, is an award-winning researcher.

His research presentation, "1.25-Dihydroxyvitamin D3 Activates Secretion of Hydrogen Peroxide by Human Monocytes," made him co-winner with Jorge Plutzky at UNC's Student Research Day this year. Dr. Myron Cohen, assistant professor of medicine, was Mesler's faculty sponsor.

Mesler, a native of Andover and a 1982 Duke University graduate, became interested in working with Cohen after hearing the physician's lectures in first-year immunology course.

Their research on vitamin D, which works in monocytes—a type of white blood cell—to maintain calcium balance in bones, examined the role of the vitamin in an endocrinological function. They sought to determine the effects of it on the capacity of monocytes for secretion of hydrogen peroxide.

Oxygen reduction products, such as hydrogen peroxide, are believed to be important for the body's attack of foreign substances including germs and some tumor cells. Mesler compared the responses of monocytes cultured in vitamin D to those cultured in a proven stimulator of the secretion mechanism, interferon- $\gamma$ . After exposure to a soluble agent, vitamin D proved as potent as interferon- $\gamma$ , even in offsetting decay of the secretion function.

Before working with Cohen, Mesler spent a year as a Winston Churchill Scholarship recipient studying experimental pharmacology at Cambridge University. Research in England takes place at a slower pace, he said, and is presented in a more complete form in publication.

Mesler, like many UNC medical students, is interested in research as preparation for a career in general medical practice. About 60 percent of all students in the UNC medical school complete research projects by the time they graduate, although they are not required to do so.

"There are so many factors involved in one's (career) choice," he said. "But, there will always be a need for a good doctor. I would like to be a real help to people."

Mesler and Plutzky were among 15 students selected from among more than 30 to speak during Student Research Day.

Summer Registration Continues

The Department of Community Services has been accepting registrations for Tiny Tot playground for ages three and four, Preschool playground for ages 4½ to 6 and the All Day playground for grades K-6.

The Tiny Tot and Preschool programs will be relocated from the Bancroft School into the Shawsheen School while the All Day will relocate from the Technical School to the Andover Recreation Park off Abbot Street.

The Tiny Tot and Preschool playgrounds are enrichment and recreational programs in which children explore the world of creative play with others their age in arts and crafts, music and movement, nature and games, storytelling and an occasional field trip (Preschool only). All children must be toilet trained.

Tiny Tots may register for a full five-day schedule or a two or three day a week program. Preschoolers register for a full five-day schedule. Program hours are from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. An afternoon program is available for preschoolers from 12 noon to 4 p.m. Extended hours are available until 5:30 p.m.

Agency Sought For Day Care

The Andover High School Early Childhood Program, in cooperation with the Andover Department of Community Services, is seeking an agency to set-up and operate a day care center for children ages 2.9 to 5. This center would provide much needed day care, primarily for the children of the Town of Andover's municipal and school employees.

In a needs assessment done last year by the Department of Community Services Child Care Committee, a great need was found in Andover for day care for infants through school-age children. As a result of work done by the preschool segment of that committee, space is available and a search is being made for an independent agency to run the center.

Although the center will not be large enough to solve the preschool day care problem in And-

The All Day Playground is an enrichment and recreational program geared for children who have completed grades K-6. The children will participate in a variety of traditional camp activities, plus canoeing, hiking, swimming, tennis and weekly field trips.

The All Day program is held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Extended hours are available from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. and from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Registrations for all of the programs are in two-week sessions beginning July 1. Children may be registered for one two-week session or a combination of sessions equalling up to eight weeks. Priority will be given to those registering for four weeks or more. This applies until April 26. Note that four or eight-week discounted rates apply only when registering for a full four or eight weeks at the time of registration (not add-ons to equal a larger number). Non-residents may apply on a space-available basis for an additional fee.

Informational flyers are available at the Department of Community Services office, Town Hall, Bartlet Street, Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

over, it is hoped that it might serve as a model to other local businesses and industries in the area.

The agency selected will be financially responsible for the renovation of the space provided in the school and will receive special consideration on rent because of this. The agency selected must be willing to work with a limited number of students from the Exploring Childhood classes at the high school as interns.

Agencies interested in obtaining more information or a request for proposal form should contact the project coordinator, Patricia Koandanis, at 470-1700, ext. 258, or write AHS Child Care Program, Andover High School, Shawsheen Road, Andover.

Activity is the only road to knowledge.

Unusual Items Donated

Some items that have been donated to this year's Recycling Sale are just too rare to offer only on sale day, Saturday, May 11. A generous local family has given a professional potter's wheel and a large tent. Anyone interested in either of these items may call Mrs. Joseph Dana, Mrs. Thomas Swift, Mrs. R. Milton Cole or Mrs. Paul Hollenbeck for information.

Treasures galore continue to arrive at Draper Hall, through the Abbot gates on School Street, every Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. More goods, including entire leftover yard sales, except for books, clothes and large appliances, are always welcome. Aluminum may be brought to Draper Hall during any of the intake hours, but foil and frozen dinner trays will not be accepted.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

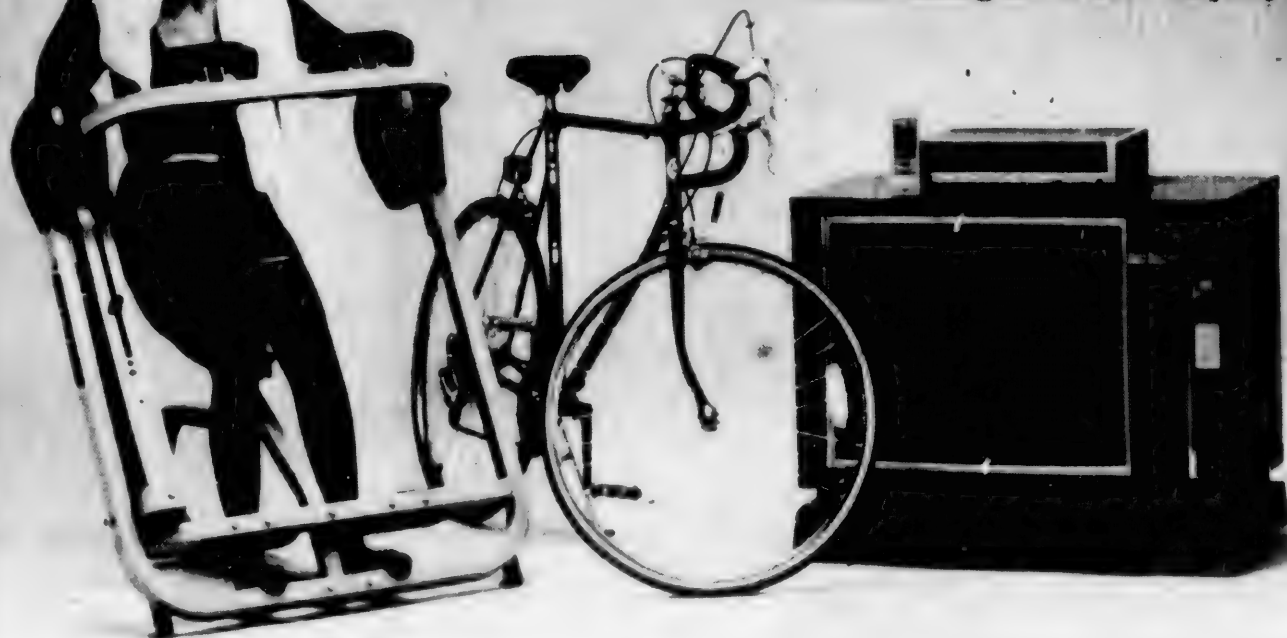

Babies develop slowly. You can't expect a 6-month-old baby to do what a 9-month-old can. Each baby also grows at her own speed, so you can't expect your 6-month-old to be exactly the same as other babies her age. Your baby might learn to sit up earlier than your neighbor's baby, but the other baby might crawl before yours. It's very important to accept your baby as she is. Every baby has a built-in drive to learn new skills. Therefore, this means that you should not feel you must teach your baby everything.

Shopping at TINY TOTLAND, is a welcomed experience. Convenient hours...Open 9-5:30 Mon. & Th. 9-9. Do all of your shopping for baby in one convenient stop. Toys for all ages...heaven to seven." Leading brand name furniture and accessories. Over 80 cribs on display. M/C & Visa honored. Come and browse around at TINY TOTLAND, 1111 Elm St., Manchester, N.H. "Where Quality Costs you Less." Well-known comedian and former Andover High School class clown, Jay Leno, returned to Andover High School with a film crew from the WBZ-TV 4 Evening Magazine Show. Leno, a 1968 graduate, and a crew of four that included Evening Magazine host Steve Aveson, toured and setup in different locations of the school to film a number of students and teachers in the background. Leno was back in the Andover area during the month of March to do a performance at the Collins Center and a number of shows in Boston. The show, produced by Paul Bloomhardt, will air on the Magazine Show Wednesday, May 1, at 7:30 p.m. Photos clockwise from upper left: Cameraman Mike Brewer focuses on Evening Magazine Host Steve Aveson and Jay Leno in front of the school; Social Studies teacher David Robichaud gives some advice to his former student as Aveson listens in; the Magazine crew, Aveson, Soundman Clint Bramesco, Producer Paul Bloomhardt and Cameraman Mike Brewer film a scene in a classroom; Jay Leno interviews junior Leo Gravell in a scene from a mock detention class.

Andover Man Has Led Many Lives

By Marilyn Jackson

One of Richard L. Wilson's favorite quotations is from Lawrence Ferlinghetti. It speaks of "constantly risking absurdity and death."

Wilson, an Andover resident for 17 years, is one of those people who risks absurdity, if not death, by trying new things. He is always evolving.

His current persona is as a college English instructor and head of Northeastern University's Alternative Freshman Year Program in Boston. Wilson has been everything, from a minister—he still occasionally preaches at the Andover Unitarian Universalist Church—to a truck driver. He has two master's degrees and most of a third, and is a true professor. He thinks about things and talks about them.

"I see myself in a kind of great cosmic play in which I have the opportunity to play several of the parts," Wilson says. "I have done this vocationally, but I also do it with respect to the positions of philosophy—religious believer and agnostic and scientist. These are points of view and it's exciting to try them out."

"When I was a truck driver, for instance, I found out that there's a worldview that goes with being a truck driver: atavistic and pragmatic. It is very down to earth, very primal."

He plans to stick to his present job, which he has held for nearly three years, long enough "to make a real difference."

The Alternative Freshman Year (AFY) program, a part of Northeastern's University College, is for college freshmen judged able to do college work if they take a specialized program their first year.

They are drilled extensively in study skills as well as the usual college subjects. Wilson serves as their ultimate counselor and coordinates the curriculum, directing a 60-member faculty.

"We're running a program to help students who are unprepared for college for various reasons and what we try to do is to slow down the pace and include some remedial courses and then gradually accelerate the learning process in the winter and spring, until they're considered ready for the (regular) sophomore year by the end of the third quarter."

"The key elements are small classes, careful monitoring of each student's progress and choosing instructors who want to work with students who are in need of extra help with their basic skills."

"My personal philosophy is that you find that education takes place when the instructor gets involved with the student. This especially applies to the AFY program: many students here have had a history of teachers who distanced themselves and didn't give the student a chance to relate to them."

"A lot of good teachers will tend to come down hard on the poor students and not really help them much. The good students are more interesting, so they tend to dominate the class time, and their work is more interesting, therefore, it gets more attention."

"This (program) is standing up for the people who have been kind of left behind by the system. Maybe they goofed off, but now they're looking for an opportunity to show what they can do."

In addition to his duties with the AFY program, Wilson teaches one or two English courses per term for AFY students and regular Northeastern students.

His penchant for helping people has been evident in most of his endeavors. He grew up in Pennsylvania and met his wife, Anne, when they were both students at Bucknell University. Wilson majored in psychology, philosophy and religion. He earned a master's degree in theology at Drew University and earned most of the credits for a master's degree in English literature at Wesleyan College in Middletown, Conn.

Wilson became a Methodist minister, but that did not last. "I was in the ministry and I gradually found that I was getting involved more and more in social issues. The Vietnam war came along and I was greatly shaken up by it and I found that it was difficult to continue without doing something about that. I became a divisive influence in the church (in Cranford, N.J.) because of that."

He decided to leave the ministry and came to Massachusetts in 1967 where for six years he worked with the American Friends Service Committee in Cambridge as New England director of youth programs. The groups of young people he organized did volunteer work for the draft resistance movement, the anti-ballistic missile movement and the ecology movement.

Bowing to the committee's rule that an employee must leave after six years, Wilson left and became chaplain at Worcester Polytechnical Institute for a year, then took a post as program coordinator at the Rolling Ridge Church Conference Center in North Andover.

After that he flirted with a more earthy job, truckdriving. "I think that was an attempt to decide whether I was going to continue doing something analogous to the ministry or have a more secular job," he recalls. During the two years he drove an 18-wheeler, Wilson also did some insurance-selling and worked for a Greek dairy.

The truckdriving, however, inadvertently led him to his next calling, education.

He was delivering potatoes from northern Maine to Southern New England. The time: 1976. He was using a borrowed trailer because his own trailer had been hit and was being repaired. At a potato company in Presque Isle, Maine, a forklift "went right through" the borrowed trailer, stranding Wilson in the area while it was being fixed.

He was put up at the home of a couple who were employed, respectively, as an employment counselor and a teacher at nearby Ricker College. Naturally, they had a field day talking to Wilson about his past employment history, and within a short time, he had been offered, and accepted, a job at Ricker College.

Wilson became a college instructor in political science, philosophy, religion, English and symbolic logic. For two years, while Anne remained in Andover, Wilson lived in northern Maine, joined by his son, David, who became a student at Ricker College. Wilson also served as a counselor to middle-aged men who were retiring from the U.S. Air Force and were looking for something to do next in life. They surprised him: "I found that Air Force people were very individualistic. It was not a lockstep group by any means."

The Ricker years provided another opportunity for Wilson to see other kinds of lives and assess his own. "A lot of people took courses in the wintertime up there as a form of group therapy, for relief from the stir craziness of being snowbound. It was within 50 miles of Canada. They had cabin fever. The first winter I was there, in January alone we had 165 inches of snow."

Wilson returned to Massachusetts and joined Northeastern University as a graduate research assistant. He completed a special project on cooperative education while earning another master's degree—this one in counseling.

Almost every job, he will admit, has involved some kind of counseling. "I guess I have always been saving souls in one way or another. I try to help people adapt and survive and be independent, so they can work toward their fulfillment."

"I take the Jeffersonian view that economic independence is the basic requirement for democratic freedom and it seem to me that our freedoms are imperiled by very rapid change and by the problems of some people's being left out of the new fields that are developing."

"That's one of the reasons that I like being in the AFY program here. It provides the opportunity to salvage some people who have almost missed out on becoming part of the educated portion of the American public. People who fail to become educated, I think, will become more and more victimized by harsh economic trends, leading to unemployment and deadend jobs."

Deer Jump Walk Set For Sunday

A special walk, planned jointly by the Appalachian Mountain Club and the Andover Village Improvement Society, will take place Sunday, April 28, along Andover's Deer Jump Reservation.

Owned by AVIS, the Deer Jump lands cover about 95 acres along the south bank of the Merrimack River. The woodland trail follows close to the river's edge, crossing several streams and touching an old mill site and stone dam near Fish Brook. The area has one of the largest collections of rare native trees and plants in New England. The leisurely pace of this hike is deliberately determined to make it possible for participants to view these fine specimens and hear Al Retelle describe their distinctive characteristics and early uses. Among the trees to be noted are all five birches native in New England—white, grey, black, silver and red. There are also swamp and silver maples and numerous low-growing groundcovers. Many trees are more than 100 years old.

AVIS and the AMC invite local residents to discover the beauties of this woodland area. Meet at 1 p.m. at the Fish Brook Pumping Station off Brundrett Avenue. Take River Road, adjacent to Hewlett-Packard Road, a half mile from Route 93. The gate to the pumping station will be open and parking will be nearby.

During an eight-hour period of sleep, you'll probably have from three to five intervals of dreaming sleep. These intervals last a total of about 100 minutes. The later dream periods last longer than the earlier ones.

Providing Home Environment And Meeting Medical Needs

By Susan Rand

On first inspection it does not look like a nursing home. A visitor might notice the warmth of the entryway, the polished wood floors, the winding staircase, the afternoon sunlight filtering in through open windows decorated with hanging plants.

What you won't see at the Nevins Adult Day Health Center are uniformed administrators, hospital beds or dinner trays.

The people enrolled in this medical day care center, housed in the old Grange building, on Johnson Street in North Andover's old center neighborhood, live with their families or on their own.

Unlike the Andover Senior Center's day care program for elders (featured in the TOWNSMAN on March 14, 1985) the Nevins Center is for those with specific medical needs. During the day they need help with their medical situations. Some are diabetic, others have high blood pressure or are recovering from a stroke. And the Nevins program is the only area center enrolling persons as young as age sixteen.

"Not everyone chooses to live in a nursing home," explained Donna Pettoruto, the program director at both the North Andover site and its sister program, the seven year old Nevins Elderly Day Care Center, at 110 Broadway, Methuen. "This is a home environment. These are people that don't want to be in nursing homes so it can't look like a nursing home here."

The North Andover site opened just three weeks ago on April 4, after a year's worth of planning to ready the formerly dark and dingy site for Nevins. When she first toured the Grange, Pettoruto confessed, she didn't think the landlords, North Andover's Old Center Realty Trust, would be able to make the first floor inhabitable, much less inviting. But the center opened and now has an enrollment of 11 persons, five of whom are Andover residents. There is room for a maximum of 30 people at any one time, which means many more may sign up because they don't usually attend all day, every day — although they could.

The center, a non-profit, self-supporting agency, is open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, at a cost of $22.52 a day per person with an additional fee for transportation from home. The cost, which Pettoruto compared to the going nursing home rate of $90 a day, is paid in full by Medicaid and Massachusetts Commission for the Blind insurances. That cost includes daily snacks and lunch.

The ritual of each day is important at Nevins. Each morning the guests begin their day with coffee and are welcomed by Activities Director Maribeth Cote.

"It is important to make them as independent as possible," said Pettoruto, and the day's routine helps reinforce that spirit.

First there is the task of choosing

Auction To Mark Anniversary

A two-hour video of a child's birthday party, a simple will, a Cabbage Patch "preemie" and a weekend of child care for a child under 22 months old are among the items to be auctioned off at The Mother Connection's second annual Goods and Services Auction on Monday, April 29, at 7:30 p.m. at the Andover Baptist Church, corner of Central and Essex Streets, Andover (7 p.m. preview).

The auction marks the third anniversary of The Mother Connection, an Andover-based, non-profit organization providing information, resources, support and recreation to mothers and their families.

Refreshments, a raffle and door prizes will add to the festivities. Admission is free and the public is invited. For information or to make donations, contact The Mother Connection, Inc.

Bride In Musical At School

"Pajama Game" by Adler and Ross, the spring musical show produced jointly by Belmont Hill School and Winsor School, will be performed at Winsor School Friday and Saturday, April 27 and 28, at 8 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door. The plot concerns a romantic involvement between workers in a pajama factory where there is a threatened strike for higher wages.

William T. Bride, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Bride, Jr. of Andover, plays Max, an important worker in the factory. Bride attends Belmont Hill as a five-day boarder, a program which permits students to live at the school from Monday through Thursday and be with their families on weekends.

Healthy Back Program At YMCA

The Andover-North Andover YMCA will offer the Y's Way to a Healthy Back program starting Monday, May 6. The program, designed primarily to relieve back pain, increase flexibility and ease tension, was designed by Dr. Hans Kraus, world-famous back specialist, and approved by the medical advisory committee of the YMCA of Greater New York.

The special exercise program, which utilizes the Kraus-Weber test to determine minimal muscular strength and flexibility, is composed of a series of movements that begins with relaxation, then flexibility, mild muscular strengthening and returning to muscle relaxation techniques.

"More than 80 percent of the participants previously enrolled in our program found relief or complete elimination of back pain," said Lydia Mong, certified instructor of the program.

"If you are among the many who complain of back pain and your condition is not caused by organic disease but by muscles that are weak or tense or both, then the YMCA program may be of significant help to you," stated Mong.

Recycling Pickup Next Week

Andover's next paper recycling pickup week will begin Monday, April 29. Residents should place securely tied or double-bagged bundles of paper apart from trash by 7 a.m. on their usual trash collection day. Recycling pickups are made every other week.

Contractor Greg Graham of Graham-Bernier Corporation of Malden requests that residents not put out their paper in plastic trash bags, even in wet weather. Double paper grocery bags or even plastic grocery bags allow the driver to tell at a glance where he has to stop for a pickup. Paper in other containers is likely to be overlooked. Clear, specific instructions on how to present paper for recycling have appeared repeatedly in local newspapers ever since recycling began in Andover. Yearly mailings have also informed householders exactly how to recycle. A helpful word from informed neighbors may be needed to guide those who don't read THE TOWNSMAN so that everyone will be assured of getting better service.

Glass is no longer being picked up at curbside, but residents are urged to save clear and green glass for monthly glass drives beginning in June.

A schedule of recycling pickup weeks will be mailed to residents in the near future. Watch for further announcements in THE TOWNSMAN.

Annual Canoe Races Set

Danald Mathias Sr., warden for the Vale Reservation, nine-year-old Gretchen Methias and Donald Mathias, Jr., 14, get in some practice for the upcoming AVIS canoe races.

The Andover Village Improvement Society (A.V.I.S.) will hold its 15th annual Shawsheen River Canoe Race on Saturday, May 4. Experienced canoeists, beginners and families are all welcome to participate and enjoy the fun with a picnic on the side of the river.

The races will start at 11 a.m. Registration is a 10:30 a.m. by the river near the "Horn Bridge" on Central Street. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded to the winners in different classes. The race course will start at Central Street, go up river half way to Ballardvale and return. The time to beat in the intermediate division was set in 1979 at 18 minutes and 19 seconds. If there are sufficient entries, an open race will do that route twice.

Both sides of the Shawsheen River from Central Street to Ballardvale are held in their natural states for conservation purposes. The A.V.I.S. land by the river constitutes 74 acres. A.V.I.S. has 17 other reservations in Andover, all open to the public.

No rain date has been set and, quite remarkably, not one has been needed in the past 14 years.

Pre-Columbian Indians believed that earthquakes were caused by the creator shaking the earth to see if his handiwork was still round. The Indians would shout, "Here I am," to reassure him.

Silent Auction For Chorus

The Treble Chorus of New England, the Merrimack Valley's resident classical chorus for children, invites all patrons, friends and neighbors to a silent auction Friday, May 3, at 7:30 p.m. North Parish Church in the Old Center, North Andover.

The parents of the Treble Chorus have garnered treasures far and wide for this gala auction evening. Local businesses have been most generous in their donations. To be auctioned off are two certificates from the Andover Inn, two art books from Houghton Mifflin, Christina by Andrew Wyeth and Arabian Art, a sweater from Young Fashions in Andover, a VCR movie rental gift certificate from Movies and More and a family evening at Chuck E Cheese. Private voice lessons by Treble Chorus director Marie Stultz, a gourmet dinner and two London Fog raincoats will go to the highest bidders.

There will be an opportunity to bid and win a one or two week holiday at a luxury condominium on the Dutch island, St. Maarten, in the Caribbean. This is the gift of Sandy Padellaro and is swappable for comparable luxury resorts worldwide.

There is no admission charge and refreshments will be served. The proceeds will be used for a scholarship fund and operating expenses of the chorus. The North Parish Unitarian Church is located opposite Hay Scales Exchange on Route 133.

Concert

Paul O'Dette, lutenist, and Arthur Haas, harpsichordist, will pool their skills in Jordan Hall, Boston, on Saturday, May 4, at 8 p.m. in a concert featuring solo and ensemble Italian works by Pasquini, Rossi, Vivaldi (trio for lute and continuo) and English works by Byrd and Dowland. Tickets are available at the Jordan Hall Box Office.

Church, School Choirs In Combined Concert

The combined choirs of Christ Church Parish, Andover, and the Brooks School, North Andover, will present a concert of choral literature at 4 p.m. Sunday, April 28, in Ashburn Chapel of Brooks School, Route 133, between North Andover and Georgetown.

The choir of more than 50 singers will be under the direction of Earl Miller, music director of Christ Church and the chapel music of Brooks School. He has selected a variety of pieces ranging from early Plainsong to a contemporary work by Worcester composer David McKay.

The Brooks School Chapel Choir is comprised of 22 high school-aged singers that prepare a weekly, sung chapel service and a monthly Evensong. The Christ Church choir, which is actually made up of two choirs, sing a full schedule of Sunday services and concerts.

The concert will begin with an ancient hymn, the "Te Deum," sung in procession to a Gregorian Plainsong melody, accompanied by handbells. The Brooks School choir will then sing "Alleluia," from Cantata 142 by Bach, "A Cantic of Peace" by Joseph Clokey, "The Lord Reigns, Let All Rejoice" by Eugene Butler and "Birdsing," from the cantata "Hologicost" by David McKay.

Following a singing of an Ascension Hymn by choirs and audience, the Christ Church Choir will sing "Now God be Praised" by Melchior Vulpius, "He Watching Over Israel" from Elijah by Mendelssohn, "O Pray for the Peace of Jerusalem" by Herbert Howells, and the Antiphon: "Let All the World in Every Corner Sing" by Ralph Vaughan Williams.

Everyone will sing the hymn "Jesus Shall Reign" to the tune of "Duke Street."

The combined choirs will sing Eric Thuman's "A Hymn of Praise to the Creator," "Thanks be to Thee" by Handel, "Now the Green Blade Riseth, a French Carol for Spring," "Panis Angelicus" by Cesar Franck, "God is my Strong Salvation" by Austin Lovelace, "Jerusalem" by C.H.H. Parry, and the Hallelujah Chorus from the "Messiah" by Handel.

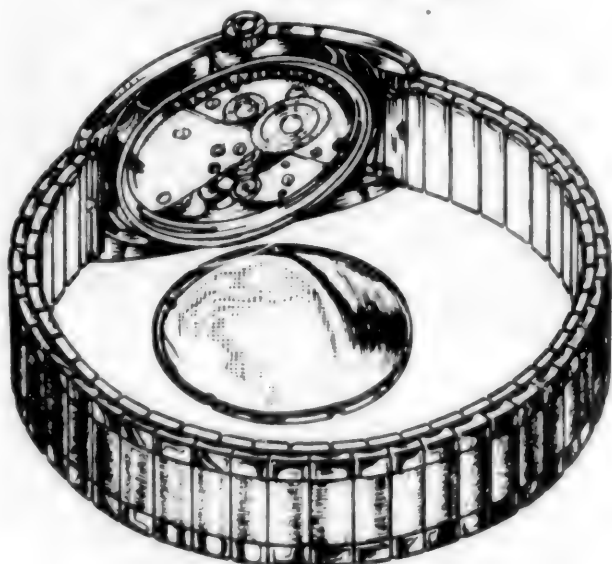

Tenor Jamie Redwine and baritone Robert Talley, Brooks School singers, will serve as soloists.

British Music Featured

The Treble Chorus of New England will perform at the United Presbyterian Church, 96 E. Haverhill St., Lawrence, Sunday, May 5, at 3 p.m. The title of the concert is "Music of the British Isles."

The Treble Chorus is celebrating its tenth anniversary season, under Marie Stultz, artistic director. It was founded in 1975 to participate in the North Reading Choral Society's presentation of Ralph Vaughn Williams' "Hodie" and generated such enthusiasm that, after many concerts, it was incorporated as an independent, non-profit organization in 1983.

The Treble Chorus refers to the range of the child's voice, which lies in the treble of G clef. It is open to boys and girls of any race, creed or color, ages 7-16, interested in the classical vocal arts and fine singing. A candidate may gain admission by auditioning with the director and attendance at Singers' Workshop, the summer training ground for the chorus.

The choir of 50 boys and girls in the Performing Choir and 15 in the Training Choir specializes in singing classical music of sacred and secular origin.

Program On China At Academy

Phillips Academy, in Andover, presents a rare look at China through the premier of the film, "Small Happiness," directed by Carma Hilton and Richard Gordon, a Phillips Academy alumnus, in Kemper Auditorium on Wednesday, May 1, at 6:45 p.m. As the first in a series of films about China directed by Gordon, the 58-minute documentary focuses on the lives of ordinary women and their experiences as members of the largest and most populous country on earth. The public is invited, at no charge.

"Small Happiness" presents such a rare look at the personal lives of Chinese women in part because it is the first American film to be produced in and about China with no governmental restrictions. The women of Long Bow Village speak about topics ranging from love and marriage to birth control and a strike in the local workshop. The Chinese countryside, where one-fifth of the world's people live, is rarely seen with such candor by the West.

"Under the Big Top," the Pike School's Spring Fair, will be held Saturday, May 11, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at The Pike School, Sunset Rock Road, Andover. The fair will have craft and food booths and special activities for adults and children.

"Alexander's Follies" will entertain with juggling, jokes, music and stunts at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Crafts chairpersons Susan Bastinelli of Methuen and Miriam McDonald of Merrimack are leading workshops at which potpourri baskets, decorative cutting boards, candles, magnets, aprons, doll clothes, recipe holders and other items are being made to be sold at the fair.

Plant chairmen Debbie McNamara of Lowell and Pat Foss of Rye Beach, N.H., report that plants are blooming and ready for sale.

There's no documentary evidence that Louis XIV actually said "L'etat c'est moi" (The state, it is I). Tradition has it that Voltaire attributed it to Louis, but actually made it up himself. Napoleon, however, did say it to the French Senate in 1814.

"Around the Corner, Around the World" is the theme of the week-long Missions Festival at South Church in Andover. Active missionary speakers will present recent updates of missions work around the world. Church members who have recently travelled to Costa Rica to investigate missions opportunities there will report to the community. Discussions about some local missions projects will ensue, as well as celebrations in music and meals.

Dr. Milton Amayun, a pediatrician from World Vision, will begin the conference by speaking at the 10:30 worship service and at a 12 p.m. luncheon. Dr. Amayun, originally from the Philippines, worked first as a physician with World Vision in Costa Rica. His most recent field experience was lead physician of refugee camps for Cambodian refugees in Thailand. He is studying for a degree in public health at Harvard University, from where he intends to return to World Vision for assignment in Africa or Asia. Anne Bassage from Lawrence will discuss her mission program to parenting teens with the Women in the Word study group at 9:30 a.m. on Friday. There will be a family trip to Overlook Farm in Rutland, the home of Heifer Project, Inc., on Saturday morning.

One of the major events of the week is the Haitian dinner at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, May 3. A native Haitian choir from Roxbury will be present, as will the Rev. John Thomas. The menu will be Haitian, members of the Haitian Mission trip will present a slide-show to highlight their trip and there will be an opportunity to purchase Haitian crafts.

Latin American Specialist At Church

Many people have believed that cattle acquire the gift of speech on Christmas Eve.

Brian H. Smith, PhD, will be the guest speaker at the Unitarian Universalist Church of Andover on Sunday, April 28. Smith, an associate professor of political science, specializing in Latin American politics, at M.I.T. in Boston since July 1980, earned his degree in political science from Yale University in 1979.

Prior to that, he was at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C., conducting research and teaching in areas of churches and human rights in the Americas. Until 1979 he was a member of the Jesuit Order in the Roman Catholic Church and served as a priest in Chile in 1972 during the Allende years, and in 1975, which includes the present military regime.

While in Chile, Smith worked with small grassroots groups of Christians forming base communities for reflection, prayer and social action on behalf of justice and human rights. His book, "The Church and Politics in Chile: Challenges to Modern Catholicism" (Princeton 1982) recounts many of these experiences and analyzes the role of churches under changing political and economic conditions in a developing country. Smith is finishing a book on the role of voluntary private organizations in North Atlantic countries in promoting equitable development among the poorest sectors with a special emphasis on Colombia.

His morning topic will be "The Unitarian Universalist Service Committee: The Struggle for Justice and Freedom Yesterday and Today in Central America." He will explain the context of Central America where justice and freedom are in jeopardy and point out how the Unitarian Universalist Service Committee is using its resources to make an important contribution to preserving values and to blunting government designs for the region.

The Unitarian Universalist Church of Andover meets at the November Club, 6 Locke St. Services begin at 10:30 a.m. Child care is available and guest are invited to join the fellowship coffee following the services.

Committee Planning Service

The first meeting of the group planning this year's ecumenical Baccalaureate Service will be held at the parsonage of the Ballard Vale United Church, 20 Hall Avenue, Sunday at 7 p.m. Mrs. Barbara Skinder and the Rev. Gary S. Cornell will serve as advisors to the planning committee which will be composed of graduating senior high youth from local churches. The service is scheduled for Sunday evening, June 2, at St. Robert's Church. All interested graduating seniors of the Andover community are invited to participate in the planning and preparation for this service.

Contractors Seeking Added Hours At Landfill Site

They are having trouble getting into the town's Ledge Road landfill and local contractors say town restrictions—or the lack of regulations, is harming their business.

Over a dozen men, most of whom run landscaping, construction and tree businesses, asked the Board of Selectmen for help on Monday night. Andover resident Dick Murphy, who runs the M&E Tree Service, acting as spokesman for the group, told the board that the lack of access to the dump would end up costing customers more to have work done.

Murphy presented the board with a petition outlining a number of regulations which the 36 signatories to the document agreed to abide by if their access to the dumping ground is increased.

The selectmen listened to the contractors but suggested a solution to the problem come from the town manager working together with Public Works Director Robert McQuade.

McQuade was not at the meeting but in a discussion with THE TOWNSMAN he said he was meeting with town officials to work out a solution to the problem. He does differ with the contractors, though, over what is allowed at the landfill, said McQuade. They want to bring in some materials that aren't allowed at such sites by state guidelines.

Selectman Chairman William Dalton told town Finance Director Anthony J. Torrisi, who is acting as town manager in the absence of the vacationing Kenneth Mahony, to work out a solution to the problem and report back to the board at their next meeting.

"You don't need to wait until the next meeting to get this going," Dalton suggested. "You can give us a report then."

At present the dump site is open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., every Saturday, and for about 20 minutes, beginning around 7:30 a.m., on weekday mornings. Because dumping in the area must be supervised by a town employee the site isn't open again during the day. And, said the contractors, this is a hardship because during the day they need to dump their trucks once they are filled. Their petition showed a tally of the trucks used by the contractors amounting to some 76 vehicles.

Selectman John Scileppi suggested giving each of the contractors keys to the gate outside the dump, which he said would solve the problem.

"This seems like a coordination problem," Scileppi said. "It seems it would be pretty simple to sit McQuade down and get a schedule."

The key method was tried a few times, most recently a year ago, said Murphy. But the unsupervised dumping always ended with illegal dumping of materials, such as asbestos, at the site. Selectman Donn Byrne immediately vetoed Scileppi's plan to give out keys.

"Giving keys out is what got us into trouble before," said Byrne.

Hussey's Pond Nearly Dead Due To Acid Rain Content

By Susan Rand

One of Andover's ponds is nearly 'dead' from acid rain contamination, according to a statewide study released this week.

Most seriously affected is Hussey's Pond, said Bill Donelan, 15 Stratford Road, who along with his wife, Pat, volunteered as district captains in the state survey, called the Acid Rain Monitoring (ARM) project.

The local waters were tested for acidity and alkalinity contents. The lower the pH level the more acidic water. The alkalinity level is the water's ability to buffer or accept acid, Donelan explained.

Hussey's Pond, in Shawsheen, was found to have a pH level of 5.2, on a scale where a pH of 5 or lower means a pond is dead, or cannot support any type of plant or fish life. The alkalinity reading was 3.5, on a scale where a reading of 20 or higher would indicate a healthy pond.

Hussey's Pond joins 16.1 percent of the state's water, categorized in the most-serious category. Another 5.2 percent of the state's waters are termed dead according to the study.

Donelan explained that as water becomes more acidified, or dead, it appears clear. That is, he said, because without plant and fish life there is nothing to cloud up the water.

The ARM study, which began in 1983, was conducted in two phases with two water samples drawn from each body of water in both of the phases. Phase two saw samples taken last October and the final water collected on April 14. Run by the Water Resources Research Center at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, local samples in the ARM survey were tested at the Essex Agricultural School, in Hawthorne, Donelan said.

The way to reverse acid rain contamination of water is to neutralize the acid, often by liming the waters, something Andover's state representative Sue Tucker will request for Fields Pond in Harold Parker State Forest, from the state Division of Fisheries and Wildlife, said Tucker, adding that it was most probable that the liming would first be done in bodies of water along Cape Cod, where the ARM study found the highest percentage of 'dead' water.

"I really wanted to bring this issue home locally," explained Tucker, who has supported state efforts to battle the problem of acid rain. It would take a reversal of Reagan administration policies to begin to fight acid rain, she said.

Of the 50 bodies of water tested in Andover, North Andover, Methuen and Lawrence the majority of these are in Andover, said Donelan, who supervised testing of some 15 bodies of water in town among them Pumps Pond, Lowell Junction Pond, Pole Hill Pond and Hussey's Pond.

The primary source of acidified rain is thought to be industrial pollution in the midwestern part of the country. There, explained Donelan, tougher Environmental Protection Agency rules in the 1960s and 70s called for pollu-

Town Contemplates Filing Suit For Railroad Fires

By Susan Rand

Town officials may sue the Boston and Maine Railroad for damages resulting from three brush fires they say a B&M train started as it passed through town on Friday, April 12.

But a problem at the crux of the potential suit involves proving that the train did start the fire. B&M spokesman Dennis Coffey denies that the train, which was heading through Andover towards Haverhill, started what turned out to be two small brush fires and a large blaze that damaged between 75 and 100 acres, bringing firefighters from 14 communities to Andover.

Public mention of the suit first came at Monday's Board of Selectmen meeting when Finance Director Anthony J. Torrisi, acting as town manager in Kenneth Mahony's absence, told the board a suit was being considered by Town Counsel Alfred L. Daniels. Town officials met with Daniels that afternoon to consider bringing an action against the railroad company, which they charge has been lax about keeping their right-of-ways by the tracks clear of brush and debris.

Selectman Chairman William Dalton was enthusiastic about a possible suit, saying the town should try to recover the costs of fighting the fire at Mystic Warehouse and Distributing Company Inc., and Currier's Express, both at 30 Lowell Junction Road, where firefighters battled what some have said was Andover's worst brush fire. Torrisi told THE TOWNSMAN that a damage suit for somewhere around $5,000 and $10,000 was under consideration. While specifics of what might be included in such a suit are still unclear, Torrisi did say that, for example, towns who helped fight the fire here would be welcomed to join in on Andover's suit.

"There are town costs involved in this and we would like to recapture our costs," Torrisi said. "We would accept other towns in the suit."

Daniels told THE TOWNSMAN a decision on whether or not the town will go ahead with the suit should be made within a week. He is still investigating the matter, he said, adding that he needs to speak with "someone who had a pretty good view of the train going by."

That witness may be a telephone company worker who, Health Director Everett Penny said he had heard, by "word of mouth," was working on a telephone pole near Mystic as the train went by. Penny said he was told that three or four fires were visible after the train passed.

The costs the town might seek to recover include overtime pay for Andover firefighters called to the fire as well as regular payment for fire and police officers at the scene. The billing for the mutual aid firefighters who came to town is, under the mutual aid contracts Andover has with area communities, paid for by those towns. All Andover personnel, and the town's 27 firefighters, at the Mystic fire went to the Lawrence General Hospital for a battery of tests after it was found that there was hazardous material at Mystic.

Those hospital tests might run to $200 for each person, guessed town Health Director Everett Penny but figures weren't available from the Lawrence General Hospital on the test costs when THE TOWNSMAN went to press. The hospital tests measured the amount of smoke inhalation suffered, if any, and whether toxic chemicals were absorbed by those at the blaze. Each person was also given a chest x-ray and a urinalysis. Tests results have not yet been sent to town officials.

A state-monitored Department of Environmental Quality Engineering clean-up of the hazardous materials at Mystic is under way this week. (See story elsewhere this issue.)

For their part B&M officials contend the locomotive alleged to have sparked the brush was inspected in Lawrence and found to have new brake shoes and no

Two Are Merit Scholars

Two high school seniors from Andover have been awarded $2,000 National Merit scholarships to be used in their first year of college.

Jennifer F. Tilghman, a senior at Andover High, and Peter Durham, a senior at Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N.H., were among the 1,800 winners of the national prizes.

Both awards follow the announcement of 1,450 four-year Merit scholarships, including one awarded to Kurt E. Holmy, 12 Hemlock Road, a senior at Andover High. His corporate-sponsored award is funded by the Raytheon Company.

Still to be announced are 2,450 four-year Merit scholarships to be awarded to national merit finalists by the colleges and universities they will attend.

Tilghman's award is part of the United Parcel Service Foundation grant to the National Merit Corporation. Durham's comes from the Merit program's funds.

In order to be eligible for the National Merit awards students must take the preliminary scholastic aptitude test, also known as the PSAT/NMSQT, in the fall of their junior year in high school. The top 15,000 test scorers in the country represent about half of one percent of every state's high school senior class.

Active in her senior class, Tilghman, 17, who lives at 4 Lovejoy Road, is a co-editor-in-chief of Kaleidoscope, the school yearbook. She is also a member of the National Honor Society, the varsity swimming team, the college bowl team and last year received the Dartmouth Book Award. Last month she was awarded the Massachusetts Superintendent's Award.

She plans to attend Dartmouth College, in Hanover, N.H., next fall, possibly majoring in geology. In what little free time she has, Tilghman works as a page and in the interlibrary loan office at Memorial Hall Library.

Durham has spent a lot of time working with computers at Phillips Exeter where he is the computer club president and tutored in math, science and computer science. A winner of the Rensselaer medal in math and science at a school awards ceremony last spring, Durham is also a member of the math team and on the faculty computer committee at the New Hampshire private school.

He has taught short courses in computer assembly language, word processing and "C" language. He is also a member of the school's cross-country team and last summer worked at Infinet, here in town.

Durham, 18, will major in computer science at Harvard University. He is the son of Maria and James Durham, 6 Twin Brooks Circle.

Another Waste Site Examined

By Susan Rand

Federal, state and local officials have added another hazardous waste site to their daily rounds in Andover, now stopping off at the Mystic Warehouse and Distributing Company Inc., and Currier's Express, both located at 30 Lowell Junction Road, just across the railroad tracks from the GSF Corporation, the bankrupt manufacturing site where a clean-up has been under way since early spring.

At first it was unclear whether what was stored at Mystic was dangerous. The fire there, on Friday April 12, was the largest of three brush fires that town officials say was started by a B&M train passing through town (see story on a possible lawsuit elsewhere in this issue). And last week a Department of Environmental Quality Engineering (DEQE) spokesman told THE TOWNSMAN that the site was free of hazardous materials.

But yesterday the DEQE's Ross Hymen said that in addition to the candy sweetener sorbitol and fatty acids and resins at Mystic there are also barrels of flammable liquids and solids as yet unidentified. The materials are being tested by the clean-up crew at the site and Hymen said it may take up to two weeks to identify the substances. What he stressed are now sealed and pose a threat to public health.

John Harlow, an Environmental Protection Agency-licensed firm from Beverly, has been hired to clean the Mystic

Library Bids Examined

Bids were opened this week for the renovation work planned for Memorial Hall Library and each of the four bids were higher than the prices the town was quoted for work in the first round of bidding last August.

The lowest of the bids, all submitted from out-of-town companies, was from Eastern Contractors Inc., of Newton, who said they could do the job for $4,044,000. The work at the Elm Square building will include a new wing and renovation of the existing structure—which will double the size of the library.

Finance Director Anthony J. Torrisi said that the lowest two bids of those received seem to be within the amount budgeted for the library renovations, which Town Manager Kenneth Mahony estimates will be $5.2 million.

No contract has been awarded, as the bids need to be analyzed to insure they are correct. The bids were opened by Torrisi, who is acting as town manager while Mahony is on vacation. Mahony will analyze the bids when he returns.

Last October the apparent lowest bidder on the job, from the ten bidders who submitted estimates last summer was the Trust Construction Corp., of Braintree. But their bid was contested by the second lowest bidder, Anchor Construction, of Lowell, who claimed the low bidder had not complied with the bidding regulations.

After legal action Anchor won an injunction delaying the work and Trust decided not to appeal the decision. It was then that Mahony decided to seek the second round of bids for the project.

Neither Anchor Construction or Trust Corp. submitted bids in this round of bidding.

The other bids were sent by H. W. Granger and Sons, Shrewsbury, $4,176,000; J. P. Construction, Shoreham, $4,270,000; and Pagani Brothers Construction, West Bridgewater, $4,350,000.

Musical "Seesaw" Debuts

With a cast and crew of 42 people, including a live band and a New York City skyline as the setting, the Andover Community Theatre's spring musical "Seesaw" is ready for presentation this weekend. The show, co-directed by James J. ## Accepting Responsibility

The thought of filing suit against the Boston and Maine railroad to recover costs incurred in a series brush fire seems an advisable course.

For all intents and purposes, the railroad has not shown a willingness to accept responsibility for the care and maintenance of property lying along the tracks, not only in this area, but along its entire route.

Railroad ties are left along side the tracks, brush is allowed to grow wild and a schedule for reducing the amount of wild growth along the tracks is far too long -- every three or four years according to a company spokesman.

Too, the railroad seems to make no offer to assist local communities in combating problems stemming from the occasional train spewing flames along its rapid path.

The fire which prompted consideration of legal action, burned over several acres, damaged several trucks at a warehouse, caused injuries, and compelled firefighters to be tested for possible exposure to toxic waste.

Firefighters from many nearby communities were called to assist and remained at the scene for hours battling the fires which were dispersed in wooded areas and approaching residential and industrial properties.

In North Andover this past weekend a similar situation existed where a passing train is believed to have ignited fires in discarded railroad ties and acres upon acres of brush.

For the most part these fires occur in remote locations making it difficult for firefighters to get to them with sufficient equipment to battle the flames. As was the case in Andover, North Andover too, called for assistance from nearby communities, including Andover to spend the better part of the day chasing the main fires and the ones started from sparks in surrounding areas.

Another problem stems from the fact that access to water is practically non-existent and tank trucks are depleted rapidly when faced with considerable acreage in need of attention.

Some fire officials have suggested that the Boston and Maine could have an old tank case filled with water available to be called to the scene of such fires, which seems a logical solution.

A tank could be centrally in one of the railroad yards between Haverhill and Boston and could be dispatched in a reasonable amount of time to assist local firefighters.

With sufficient quantity of water, the area could be deluged, which is what is required to extinguish such fires quickly.

Apparently the suggestion has fallen on deaf ears at the railroad company, but in the spirit of community relations, it would be beneficial for the utility to make some consideration of such a possibility.

In the meantime, it might be a wise idea for Andover's selectmen to initiate some legal action against the railroad, if for no other reason than to get their attention and maybe get them to accept some responsibility for the property they have in the several communities they pass through.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — April 1910

John Hutcheson and son have bought out the fish market on Barnard street and will commence business there on Monday morning. The opening of the market will be in conjunction with the old line of work carried on so well by Mr. Hutcheson.

To the Editor of the Townsman: Your remarks about the streets being cumbered by young boys and girls under 12 years of age can only be cured by parents making home after dark the happy, delightful place it should be. Each father and mother should gather all their bairns around them and the issues of the day should be discussed, and their little prattle enjoyed of some good story or the Townsman read aloud. In a word, make home a home, and not simply a place to sleep in. Signed, GRANDMA.

The annual pilgrimage of the town teams is now under way up hill and down Dale carrying Red Spring Hill in ton lots to Andover Hill to be washed back into the river before another Spring sets in. The town is pretty near to the place where it will be obliged to take cognizance of the enormous expense involved in owning the Red Spring gravel pit. It long ago ceased to be an asset of the town. It long ago became an expensive luxury.

50 Years Ago — April 1935

The traffic blinker in Andover square was moved southwest about five feet yesterday when a truck in the seat of which sat a child coasted driverless through Andover square traffic. Had the blinker not stopped the truck, it would have gone across the square entirely and might have ended in a real disaster since it would have picked up considerable momentum on Essex or Central Street.

A five-cent fare between Shawshen Village and Andover square is "impossible," according to a letter received this week by the selectmen from Garfield S. Chase, manager of the Lawrence street railway company, in answer to a letter sent from the selectmen following the annual town meeting five-cent fare vote. Mr. Chase states that the company's income would be decreased nearly $50 a week if the fare were reduced from ten to five cents.

John Benson, the "world's strangest salesman," well-known as the proprietor of Benson's Animal Farm at Nashua, N.H., will be the speaker at the meeting of the Andover P.T.A. to be held on May 15th, probably in the town hall. Mr. Benson, who has just returned from India, will illustrate his lecture with slides.

25 Years Ago — April 1960

A public hearing will be held next Thursday night at 8 o'clock, when officials of the Country Club Development Corp. will explain details of the proposed 225-acre country club in West Andover. The country club, including a 27-hole golf course, would be located in the heart of undeveloped residential land bounded generally by Argilla rd., Blood rd., the high power lines and Lovejoy rd. Access to the grounds and the $775,000 clubhouse would be from Lovejoy rd.

Some 817 voters did about what was expected of them Tuesday — supporting Vice President Richard Nixon and Senator John F. Kennedy in the preferential portion of the primary balloting. Republican voters numbered 625, while 192 Democrats voted.

The cooperation between merchants and the town, to clean up the streets for each weekend, is certainly worthwhile. The plan is simple, thus workable. Merchants sweep the sidewalks in front of their stores Friday and Saturday nights — and the town undertakes to pick up the litter at night. This is a fine indication of a friendly spirit between merchants and municipality.

10 Years Ago — April 1975

An agreement dating back almost 50 years will find Andover involved in new high school construction in Lawrence. Lawrence's proposed new high school, to be built in Shawshen Park, near the Lawrence Municipal Stadium, will probably result in the expansion of Andover's trunk sewer line which follows the course of the Shawshen River to its terminus at the Merrimack. When the city builds its proposed new high school, the building will more than likely be tied in to the Andover trunk line.

Bill Becker felt confident all along that he would be returned to his department head status, but "comfortable" was the

Top-Flight Pitching Paces Warrior Nine Openers

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High varsity baseball team received a trio of outstanding complete-game pitching performances from junior righthanders John Klopacz, Rob Carpentier and Kevin Rourke last week, as the Golden Warriors settled for two wins in their three season-opening Merrimack Valley Conference games against defending division champs Central Catholic, Billerica and struggling Haverhill.

Curveballer Klopacz fired a three-hitter at 1984 MVC Small School titlist Central, no-hitting the Red Raiders over the final four frames, and AHS rallied from an early 3-0 deficit to register a 5-3 triumph behind timely RBI hits by sophomore Glenn Allard, junior Earl Abdoo and junior Rob DiTroia.

Fireballer Carpentier fashioned a sharp six-hitter against 1984 Large School champ Billerica, but the Indians overcame a 1-0 first-inning deficit to post a hard-fought 2-1 triumph.

Rourke, relying on both a live fastball and sharp-breaking deuce, came within one misjudged fly of a no-hitter en route to a one-hit gem in an 8-2 romp over winless Haverhill.

Those results left coach Bill Vickers' squad at 2-1 in the Conference and 2-2 overall, the other loss 11-9 to Middlesex League member Stoneham High.

This week the locals were scheduled to face Lowell (Wednesday) and Chelmsford (tomorrow at 3:30 p.m.).

•Andover, 5-3

Klopacz, who walked only two and struck out five on a blustery cold day, had a few problems in the first two innings before settling down to the business at hand.

Central (3-1 overall) grabbed a 1-0 lead when Joe McGowan spanked a game-opening single, took second on a passed ball, and raced across on lefty batter Bill Baillargeon's two-out single.

The Red Raiders increased the advantage to 3-0 in the second as Sean Melia drew a one-out walk, Dino Privatera reached on an error, and Dave Evangelista belted a two-run triple to left-centerfield.

The Golden Warriors touched starter-and-loser Dave Lavallee (1-1 record) for their initial run in the bottom of the second.

Rob Carpentier reached first base on a dropped third strike, senior catcher Shane Smith singled, Earl Abdoo walked to load the bases, and Glenn Allard spiked a run-scoring single.

CCHS averted further problems by escaping the inning when an Andover baserunner failed to touch third on his way to the plate. Central appealed the play and a second AHS run was nullified.

This was only a temporary setback, however, as the Warriors tied it 3-3 with two runs in the third.

Leo Gravell worked Lavallee for a one-out walk, junior John Nuzzo reached base when his wind-blown flyball was dropped, and Carpentier singled to load the bases. Smith lofted a sacrifice fly, and Abdoo followed with an opposite-field single to knot the score.

Dave Schwedler then walked, again jamming the bases, but Central reliever Darren Lamontagne induced the next batter to ground out.

Second baseman Gravell came up with the defensive play of the game in the fourth.

Lamontagne was hit by a pitch, Privatera walked, and a wild pitch moved the runners up to second and third with one down.

The Warriors brought the infield in, and Evangelista followed with a hard liner to Gravell who made the catch and ended the rally by doubling Andover won the game in the bottom of the sixth. Dave Sullivan was hit by a pitch, Glenn Allard drew a one-out walk, and Rob DiTroia rescued both pinch-runner Bill Weidman and Allard with a long double to left-centerfield.

Klopacz set Central down 1-2-3 in the top of the seventh to preserve the first victory of the season.

DiTroia, Nuzzo, designated hitter Carpentier, Smith, Abdoo, Allard and Schwedler contributed one hit apiece to the Andover attack.

Lavallee and Lamontagne combined for five strikeouts and five walks.

Billerica, 2-1

This game went right down to the final out, with Billerica sophomore Dave Lyons lashing a clutch two-out, game-winning RBI single to rightfield in the bottom of the seventh.

That came after the Golden Warriors had a runner cut down at the plate in the top half of the final stanza.

Rob Carpentier allowed just six hits in the contest, striking out six and walking only two.

The winning pitcher for BMHS, now 5-1 overall, was senior righthander Tom Sullivan (2-0). He withstood a shaky first inning to hurl a four-hitter, walking one and whiffing four. That performance came on the heels of a two-hit shutout against non-league rival B.C. High (3-0 Indians' win).

Andover opened the game with a bang, Leo Gravell working Sullivan for a one-out free pass and circling the bases on John Nuzzo's mammoth triple to centerfield.

Shane Smith followed with a hard liner to the mound, but Sullivan speared the ball and barely nipped Nuzzo off third for an inning-ending doubleplay.

Billerica tied it with a solo run in the bottom of the fourth, loading the bases on two-out singles by Sean Gearin, Scott Schermerhorn and the misplay of a grounder hit by Dan Summers.

Paul Burns then slapped an RBI single before Carpentier retired Shawn Hussey on an infield grounder.

The Golden Warriors threatened to take the lead in the top of the seventh, Shane Smith lashing a one-out single and Earl Abdoo bunting him into scoring position.

Carpentier then lined a single to leftfield, but Smith was nailed at the plate on a pair of excellent throws by BMHS junior leftfielder Tom Foley and third baseman Dave Lyons. Catcher Dan Summers slapped on the tag and the rivals headed into the bottom of the seventh in a 1-1 tie.

Paul Burns started the winning "rally" with a walk, and then Hussey sacrificed him to second.

Carpentier retired the next batter for the second out, but Lyons wisely went with the pitch and smacked a single to rightfield.

Dave Sullivan fielded the ball cleanly and hit cutoff man Dave Schwedler, whose relay throw home to catcher Shane Smith was a split-second too late to catch the sliding Burns.

Leo Gravell continued his excellent defensive play at second base for the Golden Warriors, handling seven chances flawlessly.

Carpentier paced the AHS offense with two of the four safeties.

Andover, 8-2

Kevin Rourke's first varsity start was a memorable one, the no-hit bid spoiled in the fourth when Roger Demaris' high fly to left-centerfield fell between two Andover players who got their signals crossed while chasing the ball.

Several other balls were hit hard off Rourke, but he received excellent fielding support from shortstop John Nuzzo, third baseman Earl Abdoo, and leftfielder Glenn Allard who made a fine one-handed grab after flagging down Glen McIntosh's long flyball in the first inning.

Like Klopacz and Carpentier before him, Rourke had good control and walked just two batters. He also fanned six.

Baseball Tryouts On Weekend

The Andover Blue and Gold Pony League baseball teams, formerly Babe Ruth, will hold tryouts for their 1985 squads Saturday, April 27, and Sunday, April 28.

All three sessions will be held at the Andover High School varsity and JV fields.

All youngsters ages 13 to 16 are eligible, but candidates must not turn 17 prior to August 1, 1985.

Warriors

The Golden Warriors had early problems solving the southpaw serves of Hillies' starter and loser Joe Flanagan (0-2), but then erupted to score four runs in the top of the third at Haverhill Stadium.

Dave Sullivan started the uprising with a walk. Dave Schwedler walked, Rob DiTroia drilled a sharp two-run single to leftfield, Leo Gravell walked, both runners advanced on a passed ball, and Nuzzo celebrated his 17th birthday with a crisp two-run single to left.

AHS made it 5-0 in the fourth when Abdoo singled to rightfield, and eventually scored on Shane Smith's perfectly-executed suicide squeeze bunt.

Haverhill (0-4) broke up the no-hitter and shutout in the bottom of the fourth, but Andover bounced back with a pair of unearned runs in the fifth.

Gravell was safe on an error, taking second base after his hard grounder was fielded cleanly but thrown over the first baseman's head. Smith followed with an RBI double, then scored when he stole third and the catcher's throw sailed down the leftfield line.

The Golden Warriors notched their final run in the top of the sixth as pinch-hitter Bob Charland spanked an opposite-field single to right, Glenn Allard smashed a hard basehit to left, and pinch-hitter Larry Aiello lofted a gigantic sacrifice fly to left-centerfield.

The Hillies' final run in the bottom of the sixth was unearned.

Allard, Smith and DiTroia paced the nine-hit AHS attack with two safeties apiece.

Klopacz was expected to pitch yesterday's home game against Lowell (2-3), while Carpenter will likely get the nod tomorrow against Chelmsford.

All 13-and 14-year-old youngsters should report to the field at 1 p.m. each day, while 15-and 16-year-old candidates should report at 3 p.m.

Andover Blue and Gold, formerly members of the now-defunct Greater Lawrence Babe Ruth League, will compete in the Reading Pony League.

The 12-team, two-division league also includes teams from Wilmington, Lynnfield, Stoneham, North Reading and Reading.

Both Andover teams must carry a minimum of 15 players, with a maximum of 18 players. Both teams may carry no more than five 16-year-olds with the remainder of the squad comprised of any combination of players ages 13-15.

All positions will be open, with last year's returning players required to earn their way back on the squad.

The league's regular season will consist of 16 games, each team playing every other team in its own division twice and teams in the other division once. The Andover squads will be placed in different divisions. League play begins June 16 and runs through August 5 with the post-season playoffs following.

The Andover teams will also participate in several out-of-league tournaments during August, as they have in the past, and there is the possibility the annual trip to Canada will resume this year.

All youngsters trying out and not selected for the Pony League teams will have the opportunity to try for the Andover Senior League as well. Senior League tryouts are set for May 4 and 5.

Anyone wishing further information on the Pony League should contact either Rick Harrison (475-2007 or 1-458-7100) or Dick Allard (470-0273).

St. Robert's Team Adds Two Titles

St. Robert's sixth grade travelling basketball team ended their successful season last week by adding two more championships to their record. They won the Lawrence Boys Club League Championship with a 48-34 victory over Salem, N.H., in the finals. Matt Perry and Joe Iarrobino had 10 points each while Brett Hammond and Sean Ryan chipped in 8 each. Jeff Hurley and Billy Batchedler also had a fine game.

St. Robert's won the Merrimack College Tournament with a convincing 72-46 victory over a tough Multicore team from Derry, N.H. They had to beat Wilmington and Methuen to get to the final round this past weekend where they beat Salem, N.H., in the semifinals and then Multicore in the finals.

Perry led all scorers in the final game with 19 points while Hammond had a big game with 15 points.

Perry and Iarrobino were selected by Merrimack Coach Bert Hammel to the five-man all tournament team.

St. Robert's ended their season with a 38-1 record with their only loss, in a seventh and eighth grade tournament, to Somerville in the semifinals 55-54.

Junior Warriors Take Two

By Dan Grams

The Andover High School Junior varsity baseball team continued their winning ways with a pair of 6-5 victories. They broke a five-all tie in the bottom of the seventh inning to defeat the Central Catholic Red Raiders on Wednesday while pushing across the decisive run in extra innings against the Billerica Indians on Friday.

Andover 6 - Central 5

Sophomore Chris Sappupo's RBI double, with one out in the bottom of the seventh inning, gave Andover a dramatic 6-5 victory over Central in both teams' MVC opener.

Mark Hashem notched his second win of the season, going the distance. He surrendered 10 hits, walked five and whiffed three. Andover resident Chris Colsia was the tough-luck pitcher, taking the loss for Central.

Colsia came on in the second inning in relief and limited Andover to five hits while striking out seven.

Central jumped to a quick 1-0 lead in the first, but Andover came back with four runs in their home half. Mike Powers reached on an error and advanced on Mark Tucker's sacrifice bunt. Consecutive singles by Mike Klinger and Pete Quintal produced the first Andover runs while an RBI single to Sappupo and RBI base on balls to Jeff McNeil gave Andover a 4-1 lead.

Central picked up a pair of runs in the second via a double and an unearned run in the fifth to knot the score at four.

Andover grabbed the lead in the fifth when Sappupo and Cam Deery ripped back-to-back singles. An infield out advanced both runners and a Colsia wild pitch produced Andover's fifth run for a slim 5-4 lead.

Andover could have ended the contest in the seventh, but the Golden Warrior defense developed a case of the dropsies allowing Central to tie the score at five. Now the stage was set for Sappupo's heroics. Quintal delivered a big two-strike single to get things going and then stole second. After Colsia retired Bob Pothier on a popup, he worked the count on Sappupo to 1-2. Sappupo promptly deposited Colsia's next offering down the left field line, scoring Quintal and giving Andover a dramatic 6-5 victory.

Sappupo collected three hits, Klinger and Quintal each had a pair of hits and Cam Deery chipped in a single.

Andover 6 - Billerica 5

Sophomore Gerry Nassif made his first start of the season a memorable one as Andover edged Billerica 6-5 in eight innings. The lanky righthander gave up just 5 hits, walked 9 and struck out 3.

The Golden Warriors appeared to be well on their way to a rout in the first inning as their first three batters all scored. Mike Powers led off with a walk, Mark Tucker, Mike Klinger and Chris Sappupo all singled and Bob Pothier reached on an error giving Andover a quick 3-0 lead.

Andover continued to rip the ball all over the park, but unfortunately, they were right at Billerica fielders. They finally managed to push single runs across in the fifth and sixth innings on RBI safeties by Tucker and Klinger.

On The Soccer Fields

By She Livermore

The 50 odd teams in the In-Town Program have spent the last two weeks practicing for their first game this weekend when the ASA's 1985 Spring Program will be in full swing. Brief results of the Essex County League games played last weekend appear below:

Under 19 Division

Andover Stompers 2 - Boxford Soccer Club 1

Boxford, which always provides strong competition for Andover, took the lead in the first half when Crowley made a perfect shot which went in over the keeper's outstretched hands. Chris Abell evened it up for the Stompers when he scored on a long cross from Jeff Poor. Both teams fought hard for the extra goal and the win, and when Mike Hardock beat the keeper on a fine pass from David Doyle, Andover won the hard-fought victory. BOW: Abell and Brian Cronin.

Andover Flames 8 - Saugus 0

The Flames pressed the attack throughout against Saugus and ultimately won a decisive 8-0 victory. Torrie Fitzpatrick scored a hat trick in the first half to give Andover a 3-0 lead; Anne Abele and Kathy Neaves earned assists. Fitzpatrick led off the scoring in the second half on a pass from Neaves, Lisa Marcella kicked in two and Kathy Kimball and Neaves scored one apiece. Nicole Durant and Neaves assisted on two. BOW: Erin Sheehan and Fitzpatrick.

Junior

Meanwhile, Nassif limited the Indians to one hit over the first five innings and retired 16 out of 21 batters.

Billerica rallied in the sixth inning for four runs to tie the game at five. Two walks, two Andover errors and RBI safeties did the damage.

After a scoreless seventh inning, Andover scored what proved to be the game winner in the top of the eighth. Jeff McNeil lead off with a walk and moved to second on Mark Hashem's sacrifice bunt. Mark Tucker ripped a single up the middle giving Andover a 6-5 lead. Nassif retired Billerica 1-2-3 to preserve the win.

Tucker and Klinger each collected two hits and drove in two. Sappupo had the ribbie while Powers, Pothier and Cam Derry each chipped in single safeties.

Andover's infield of Powers, Deery, Tucker and McNeil were impressive, handling 31 of 33 chances

Under 16 Division

Andover Sting 2 - North Andover 3

Andover Sting 0 - Lynn Bulldogs 2

Tommy Ciolfi put Andover in the lead when he scored on an indirect kick; Billy-Ernesto Martin earned the assist. North Andover tied it early in the second half and added build up of carbons in the smokestack. Often both are implicated in a train-caused brush fire, according to B&M's Coffey.

"We are quite familiar with this situation," Coffey said. "This particular locomotive did not start that fire."

Coffey had no comment about a possible suit by the town.

The spokesman said that B&M is in the process of clearing brush along the railroad tracks, something which is done on a three- or four-year cycle. And a B&M rehabilitation program to repair railroad ties along an 11-mile stretch near Lowell Junction has just been completed, Coffey said.

But the Board of Selectmen and Andover Fire Chief William Downs are less than satisfied with the condition of the B&M property. Torrisi told the selectmen on Monday that Downs had ordered B&M to remove creosote soaked ties from along the tracks.

"Over the years we have had a problem with the B&M Railroad setting fires along the railroad tracks," Downs said, explaining that a fire along railroad tracks started in North Andover and spread to Haverhill this weekend, also, he said, attributable to B&M trains. Andover firefighters responded to mutual aid calls at that fire.

"I feel strongly that something should be done," said Downs.

industrial residue released into the upper atmosphere where falling water, and snow, then pick up the chemicals on their way back down to the earth's surface are the cause of acid rain. Acid rain affects not only water, Donelan said, but also trees and monuments.

He suggested that local residents concerned about acid rain let their state and national legislators know they favor tougher pollution controls. And, said Donelan, "let your reps know you support further funding of projects like ARM that will monitor the quality of water and the conditions of water."

For more information about the ARM study, Donelan said to write the project coordinator: Armand Ruby, Water Resources Research Center, Blaisdell House, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA, 01003.

Greens

Many supermarkets are currently featuring leafy dark "greens" for sale.

Nutritionally, greens are excellent sources of iron, folacin, vitamin E, magnesium, vitamin B-6 and fiber. Several cancer research groups are recommending an increase of these dark greens in the diet because they are high in beta-carotene, which is converted to vitamin A after it is eaten and vitamin C. Both these nutrients have been linked to a lower cancer incidence.

Beet greens have more vitamin C, iron and calcium than the roots and are more nutritionally valuable.

Collards, the name given to young cabbage plants harvested before they have headed, are exceptional for their vitamin A and C content.

Some people believe it good luck to make pancakes on New Year's Day.

King Disappointed But Feeling Better

Many would argue that he has 'the right stuff,' but that wasn't the opinion of the state committee that passed over Andover High School teacher Robert King when they chose eight finalists to represent Massachusetts in the nationwide competition to be NASA's teacher in space.

The 52-year-old William Street resident applied back in February to ride the space shuttle some time in early 1986. This week the state Board of Education announced that four men and four women have been chosen from 250 applicants to compete for two state finalist positions.

Those two will then join 98 others from around the country to compete for the seat on the rocket.

After he had heard the bad news King was, as usual, looking for the bright side of his experience in the competition. When he decided to apply for the NASA mission, the former football star and local coach decided to get a head start on the physical training he would have to begin if chosen for the space program. Last February he had lost 15 pounds and this week King reported he was another ten pounds lighter and, "looking and feeling better!"

Members To Work As Liaison

The School Committee resumed an old practice of assigning members to work as liaisons with parent organizations and committees within the town's public school system.

At their meeting on Tuesday evening Chairman Donald Robb doled out assignments to each of the members.

Susan T. Poore will work with the parent-teacher organizations at the West Elementary and West Junior High Schools. Richard E. Neal was assigned to the Bancroft School and parent groups that meet concerning extra curricular activities. Michael R. Giammusso will meet with parent-teacher organizations at South School and Doherty Junior High. And David Birnback will work with the Chapter 766 Advisory Council and the Sanborn School. Robb assigned himself the task of working with the Shawsheen Early Childhood Center and Andover High School.

Approves Licenses

Three licenses and a transfer were approved by the Board of Selectmen's Licensing Commission at their meeting on Monday night.

Terence P. MacDonald, of Medford, was granted a common victualler license for the Bel Capri Deli, at 32 Andover St., and Stephen Goff, 20 Dugway Road, Newton, N.H., was granted a victualler's license for Overheat Inc., a business he's running at The Junction, located off River Road.

A one-day beer license was approved for the March of Dimes annual Friday Night Fiver road race, set for Friday, June 7, from 6 to 9 p.m.

An alcoholic beverage license transfer was unanimously approved by the board to transfer the license from Cormier-Andover Inc., to the Andover Country Club Inc.

The board also gave permission to the Bay State Gas Company to excavate on Haverhill Street, Apple Blossom Road, Lovejoy Road, Andover Street and William Street.

Students Peform

During the school year the Sanborn School students have regularly participated as an audience and performers for their peers. Selected students prepare a wide range of fine arts presentations for the rest of the student body, under the supervision of A. Gene Frulla, principal.

Instrumental music students will provide the program for the school on Friday, April 26, at 1:30 p.m. in the cafeteria.

Waste Site

site. The fire there did not spread to the warehouse building, where Mystic stores and distributes products for other businesses. Instead, the blaze damaged between 75 and 100 acres near the building, charring wooden pallets, truck bodies and barrels outside at the site.

Town Health Director Everett Penny told THE TOWNSMAN that of the 15 barrels on the Mystic site 12 contain unknown materials. Positive readings from DEQE testing that measures the volatility of organic materials determined that until identified the barrels must be handled as hazardous wastes.

State law dictates that clean up of the site rests with DEQE but, Penny added, "we want to make sure it happens in a timely fashion. There has been procrastination for a few months at GSF and we don't want that to happen across the street."

Daffodil Day

More than $23,000 was raised in the Greater Lawrence Unit and a record $243,000 in Massachusetts, in the American Cancer Society's Daffodil Day Festival, March 21-24, according to Sandy Shaker, Greater Lawrence Unit Daffodil Day Chair.

The Bon Secours Hospital, Lawrence General Hospital and Andover/North Andover YMCA were the distribution sites for those who ordered their flowers through WCCM's Daffodil Day Salute and through all local bank customers who sent their order forms, which were in their bank statements, to the A.C.S.

Three Andover churches, Faith Lutheran, St. Augustine's and South Church, helped with daffodil sales.

The 4th Annual Daffodil Dinner Dance was held at the Indian Ridge Country Club on Saturday, March 30. A quilt raffle raised more than $3,000 and an ad book helped the local unit exceed their goal by $8,000.

EPA representatives have toured the Mystic site and are also involved in monitoring the progress of the clean-up there and at GSF.

The ability to detect hazardous materials at a fire scene or at the site of an explosion or chemical spill is of concern to the Board of Selectmen who talked Monday night about investigating the costs of equipment to measure such hazards.

"It took DEQE two to three hours to respond," said Selectman Donn Byrne of the Mystic blaze that brought firefighters from 14 communities to Andover. "Only when they (DEQE) got there did we find that there were toxic fumes in the air. Two or three hours is a long time to be exposed to fumes."

Across the railroad tracks from Mystic is the GSF plant, where some town officials were worried that the fire might spread.

DEQE is also in charge of the clean-up on that site, under the direction of EPA-licensed Franklin Pumping Service, of Wrentham. The GSF site, though secure and not a threat to the public health, was once home to a company which manufactured urethane foam. Chemicals involved in that process, and later found inside and outside of the building after its owners abandoned the site, include carcinogens toluene diisocyanate and methylene chloride, also polyether polyol, arsenic chloride, a cyanide solution and methylene diisocyanate.

In earlier times, pills were gilded to make them more palatable.

Today, 18 states conduct lotteries.

lunch, delivered each afternoon from the Nevins Home for the Aged, in Methuen. This particular day the choices included chicken Polynesia with peaches, baked chicken leg or macaroni and cheese; then there is the choice of mashed potatoes, sliced carrots or sliced beets; a salad, with a choice of dressing; white or wheat breads and two desserts from which to choose, gelatin or bread pudding. Lunch is a family affair at Nevins, with everyone eating from the original Grange china at one big table. Then there is the task of washing the dishes after the meal, also a community effort.

There are daily announcements, prayers, the Pledge of Allegiance, exercises and orientation sessions to review the day, date and current events. Every afternoon Cote and her assistant Laurie Mallette schedule special events such as trivia games, musical programs, holiday programs, a horse shoe game or maybe a shopping trip to downtown North Andover.

Throughout the day Joan Poutenis, a licensed practical nurse, helps the guests with their medication, monitors blood pressure, body weight, and diet and consults with physicians. In some cases the Nevins staffers catch something before it erupts into a serious physical problem, explained Pettoruto.

The combined North Andover and Methuen sites make the Nevins Centers the second largest day care programs in the state, said Pettoruto, the former Donna Magane, who grew up in Andover.

Local residents interested in learning about the Nevins programs should call the center at 794-0746, for a home interview with Maureen Sharrock, the North Andover program supervisor, said Pettoruto. Visitors to the Nevins are always welcomed, Pettoruto said.

over remains in a holding pattern. McQuade estimates that it will be at least another month or two before the town opens bids on the $6.7 million Riverrina Road sewage pumping station.

A state matching grant could cover 50 percent of the cost of building the much-needed pumping station, and town officials are waiting out an approval period for the first installment of that grant before seeking bids. Andover expects to receive at least $2 million, and possibly up to $3.5 million, to help fund the project.

Construction of the Shawsheen Village pumping station could begin in July, McQuade said. The project is expected to take two years to complete.

The existing 60-year-old plant has been seriously overburdened in recent years, leading to equipment failures and, at times, sewage back-ups in Shawsheen. With the help of a dry winter, such problems were avoided during the past several months, the director noted. "So far, so good."

Two of his children are college students. Kathy, 22, is a student at Northeastern, and Bruce, 21, will return to college soon. Daughter Laurie Wilson Mairo, 26, of Georgetown, is manager of the Waldenbooks store in Methuen. And son, David, 25, of Methuen, is human services coordinator for the Town of Andover and father of the Wilsons' only grandchild, Tyler. Anne is a learning disabilities specialist at Doherty Junior High School.

Wilson enjoys being with young people. "I am always comfortable with younger people because they're questioning and they're in the same place I am. One reason that I left the ministry is that I didn't fit in with the church's thinking. I need the freedom to keep discovering new things." And, to do this, Wilson constantly risks absurdity. But, he likes it that way.

Aluminum Age: Don't Judge It by the Name

What would you call a business that deals in vinyl siding, storm and replacement windows and doors, gutters, roofs, porches, new room additions, renovated kitchens and bathrooms, and masonry and concrete steps?

You probably wouldn't call it Aluminum Age.

Frank Valente did - but then, he set up his business in North Reading in 1960. "It was the age of aluminum," explains Valente's spouse and office manager Jean. "Now, vinyl has taken over the market." You know vinyl; it's that tough, resilient house covering that looks so much like wood that you expect it to peel - which it doesn't, so you don't have to paint it. Aluminum age sells and installs lots of it.

Valente and his staff work with just about every building material in the book. They build porches - screened-in, open and enclosed; they repair roofs. They build on new additions to your house, or they make what you have - a kitchen, say, or a bathroom - more suitable to your lifestyle by designing and building a new one, from the first plans to the final paint job. They do decks, steps and gutters.

Of course, there are still jobs that call for aluminum. Take aluminum trim coverage. Exterior trim covered in aluminum looks great - and it leaves you nothing to paint but your window sashes. And there are aluminum storm doors and windows; put them on this summer, and let your winter fuel savings pay for them. Aluminum Age can take care of just about anything you need for home improvement.

"We have a very good relationship with our customers," says Mrs. Valente, speaking for herself, her husband, her sons and son-in-law - the "family" in this family business. "We bend over backward to see that our customers are pleased with the work we do." As an added bonus, all sales, estimates and plans are done by the same staff that does the work, so the customer deals with the same faces from the start of the project to its finish.

Aluminum Age, 170 Main St., North Reading, is open Mon-Fri 8-5; Sat 9-2. Call 664-5475 for more information.

Another Noisy Night at Train Stop Toys

Dear Christopher Robin:
Pooh insists that I write - even though I can't concentrate with all the noise. It's night at Train Stop Toys, and Raccoon is digging around with the wooden sand and beach toys. Lion Cub is jumping rope, and Roo's on the swing. And those German Stupsi dolls are playing croquet.
They say they're getting ready for summer. I tell them it's probably going to rain all summer, but they don't listen...

Pooh knocked over the puzzle shelf last night. What a mess. Kanga put them all back together (while Pooh told them how to do it from his kiddie-car), and they all got up on the round table to help Giraffe boost the shelf back into place. But Shaggy Rabbit - who I say is bouncier than Tigger - upset the table. It landed on my tail.

My tail is broken. I just know it is. It doesn't hang right.

While Pooh slid down the tabletop (you'd think it was the wooden slide - but that's in the other room), Buffy & Beas put all the puzzles back together again. Unlike Pooh, they are not bears of little brain...

I had quite a shock tonight. A hand-made doll introduced me to a small creature she called a "Russian nesting doll." It immediately popped in two between my eyes. There was another one inside - which did the same thing. How disruptive I'm still recovering.

The enclosed painting is Pooh's. He made it while I listening to one of Train Stop's story tapes. He used the paint boxes and the chalk and crayons. Some day, someone is going to wonder why they're running out. The picture is depressing - bright - I think it needs more black.

Pooh says you're coming during visiting hours, 10-4 Mon-Sat, 10-4 Thurs. Of course, you won't pay any attention to me what with all the wooden beams and little painted wooden toys and that big back hoe. Oh well.

Train Stop Toys is still at Railroad Ave. in Andover, but you probably won't recognize the new sign. Maybe you ought to just call. Like last time, 470-2780. But don't call collect again. Poor Mr. and Mrs. Earle are still confused by the phone bill.

Gloomily yours, Eeyore

HANDY WORK VS RENT?

Show me a rental home owner and I'll show you a landlord who has been offered the chance to rent out the house at a reduced rate in return for handyman work. Is this type of arrangement good for the landlord? My advice is to stay away from it. Rent is rent and repairs are repairs. Don't mix
the two.

Any work performed should be compensated on a fee-for-service basis. If you accept services in lieu of rent you may be asking for problems and misunderstandings.

Initially, it may seem like a bargain

and cost-effective to have a live-in handy-
man. However, it never works out that
way. The handyman
will always find enough work (in his mind) to just equal the amount of rent.
The work will stretch out each month and eventually you'll be paying for his "work
time" sitting in front of the TV watching football games.

When you buy a rental home for investment, lease it to someone who can afford to pay the rent in real money.
Any other type of arrangement is a form of Russian roulette.

BUY A BROKER. . . .
BEFORE YOU BUY A HOME!

When it comes to selling their homes, many Sellers take time and effort in selecting the right broker. They interview several brokers, compare reputations, performance records, and marketing techniques, and, ask the right questions to gain knowledge of just what to expect when hiring a Real Estate Broker. That's why The Victor Company lists more properties in the area than any other Real Estate company. When put to the test, and really compared, The Victor Company is the logical choice!

However, when it comes to buying, not enough buyers select their broker as carefully. Why should you buy a home through The Victor Company? The Victor Company also sells more homes than any other Real Estate company in the Greater Lawrence area and these are just a few reasons why.

At The Victor Company, you can be assured of working with a broker who is truly a professional, one who is enthusiastic, knowledgeable and experienced. Each sales associate is carefully selected, fully trained and effectively managed to insure a high standard of excellence. Our sales associates average eight years in Real Estate sales.

A Victor Broker is always up to the minute on current listings. Being a member of both the Greater Lawrence Board of Realtors and Greater Salem Board of Realtors, we can guarantee you exposure to the largest number of homes, while guiding you in looking just the right properties in view, saving you much time and effort. Since The Victor Company lists the most properties than any other Andover office, we are most often the first to show you that "special" home you have been waiting for!

Over the years, many excellent builders have selected The Victor Company to represent them. So, if building a house is your desire, a Victor Broker can guide you through the construction process, trouble shoot, and help to make that home just what you dreamed it would be. Also, we have been through it hundreds of times!

Finding the right home is just the first step. A Victor Broker will guide you through all the steps beyond the inspection, paperwork, and most of all, the financing! We are committed to help you understand all the complexities of today's financing, and we will guide you to the most advantageous type for you.

The Victor Company is also ready to help you with your relocation needs. As a member of "Home for Living," a national mobile home network, and having a national relocation service, plus we employ a full time Relocation Director to assist you. ## Vacation Week Produces More Vandalism In Schools

Once again an Andover public school was the target of vandals during the town's public school vacation week.

This time the damage occurred at West Elementary School, Beacon Street, where Andover police discovered four breaks over the course of five days, the last break resulting in theft of equipment and cash from the school.

The first entrance into West, the largest of the town's four elementary schools, was logged on Tuesday, April 16, at 7:13 a.m., followed by breaks on Friday, April 19, at 7:09 a.m., Saturday, April 20, at 6:07 a.m., and the final break, also on Saturday, some time between 7 and 10 p.m.

Andover detectives believe that each time one or more persons entered the building through a window they broke, explained Det. Kevin Winters. Police have no suspects in the case said Winters who is investigation the breaks along with Det. David Grant.

Because of the breaks earlier in the week, and because the schools were closed for the week, Andover police were checking the buildings often, Winters said.

During the last school vacation, in February, windows were broken at the West Junior High and the Sanborn and Bancroft elementary schools. Two weeks later Doherty Junior High School was ransacked. These earlier vandalism cases were solved by Andover police. Winters guessed that none of the juveniles involved in the other vandalism were involved in the West School damage.

The detectives theorize that whoever broke into the building wandered around during the earlier breaks, before the thefts on Saturday evening. Winters said they found a melted ice cream bar, taken from the teachers' room refrigerator, after the first break.

Police were at the school early Saturday evening, making a routine check of all of the town's schools. Winters said they left the West Elementary some time before 7 p.m. and when they returned just after 10 p.m. they noticed the final break, he said.

On Saturday night the vandals broke three inside windows once in the school. One of those windows was on the door into Principal John Coyle's office, which the vandals entered. They wheeled a 150-pound safe from Coyle's office outside the building onto school grounds where it was found with the bottom smashed. Winters said cash amounting to less than $100 was taken from the safe.

The vandals also rummaged through half a dozen teachers' desks, stole a video cassette recorder, 50 hand-held calculators, a tape recorder and a 33 mm camera.

Winters said he believes one or more elementary school students probably weren't involved in the break as they wouldn't be strong enough to move the safe outside the building. The detectives believe the same person or persons broke into the building all four times.

Satellite Dish Among Zoning Agenda Items

The Zoning Board of Appeals has scheduled five public hearings for their Thursday, May 2, meeting when they will hear a request to install a satellite dish antenna at Hewlett Packard's Minuteman Road headquarters and a bid to enlarge a commercial building on Andover Street.

The dish antenna, which will be 3.7 meters in diameter and stand 14 feet high, will allow Hewlett Packard officials to participate in video conferences. The antenna will be mounted on a nine by nine concrete slab and will be licensed by the Federal Communications Commission, according to Hewlett Packard's ZBA application.

Company officials did not return calls to THE TOWNSMAN to discuss Hewlett Packard's special permit request.

James and L.A. Fiorenza, 277 Lowell St., hope to do $150,000 worth of renovation work to the building they own at 38 and 40 Andover St. But, explained James Fiorenza, with what he called an "atrocious" hike in the town tax rate for commercial buildings, Fiorenza said he had to have more tenants— and income from their leases— before he can afford to work on his half-acre property.

He will ask the board for variances to allow him to add a 40 by 42 foot addition to the first floor of the building and a second story which would contain not more than five offices.

The building is now home to the Artistic Performance Hair Salon and the Bel Capri Deli and Convenience Store, both of which have been Fiorenza's tenants for over three years, he said.

The proposed first-floor addition would expand the Deli, provide an office for Fiorenza's real estate management business and possibly a retail store where Fiorenza said crafts may be sold.

He has the addition work out for bids now, Fiorenza said, but doesn't want to hire a contractor to do the work until he knows the Appeals Board decision. The Fiorenzas own the Andover Street property as Fio Realty Trust.

The meeting, beginning at 7:30 p.m., will be held in the second floor conference room of the school administrative building, off Whittier Street.
